

Bitches Britches and Belly Bands by Christy

You will need:

- A 3” piece of three inch Velcro (you can use smaller pieces if you choose, I find that this size is most secure)
- Bitches Britches only - Two 2” by ¾” Velcro pieces
- One 7”x A” strip of fabric
- Bitches Britches only - Two 7”xB” strips of fabric

I recommend using non-stretchy fabrics and I like denim from old jeans or medium cotton weave the best.

To get the A and B measurements:

A:

1. Measure the tummy around where you can see the band on Mojo.
2. Add 4” to that measurement. The addition is for the Velcro overlap and the seam allowances.

B – Bitches Britches only:

1. Hold piece A around the bitches belly with the opening at the top
2. Measure from the bottom edge center between the legs beside the tail and to the upper center edge. You can see on Cloud how the leg pieces fit.
3. Add 3” to that measurement for seam allowance and overlap.

Sewing Instructions:

1. Bitches Britches Only – Take the two B strips and fold them in half lengthwise.
2. Bitches Britches Only – Sew across one end and down the cut side.
3. Bitches Britches Only – Turn right side out and press
4. Take Strip B and fold in half lengthwise
5. Bitches Britches Only – Place the two B strips with raw edges together. The B strips will need to be carefully folded inside of the strip.
6. Sew strip A across one end and down the side.
7. Turn right side out.
8. Bitches Britches Only – Next you will want to tack, with a zigzag stitch, the B strips where they separate. This will discourage enthusiastic boys.
9. The last is the Velcro fastening. The 3” piece goes onto the ends of strip A. Just pin to verify that the sides come together correctly.
10. Bitches Britches Only – The 2” by ¾” pieces are for then ends of the panty piece.
 - a. Cut one of the Velcro textures in half, you will now have one side of the Velcro in two 1 ” by ¾” pieces and one in the original 2” by ¾” piece.
 - b. Stitch the 2” by ¾” piece on the topside of strip A closer to the butt side of the waist piece.
 - c. The two 1 ” by ¾” pieces go on the butt ends. Make a fold in the end before attaching the Velcro. This allows a pleat for a better fit.
